Important Disclosures. This data reflects distributions paid on the RiverNorth Opportunities Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") shares held for the full calendar year and is not predictive of the tax character of current or future distributions. This data is for information only and should not be construed as an official tax form, nor should it be considered tax or investment advice. RiverNorth is not a tax advisor and investors should consult a tax professional for guidance regarding their specific tax situation. Exempt-interest dividends are not subject to regular federal income tax. Exempt-interest dividends derived from specified private activity bonds are subject to the alternative minimum tax (AMT). Non-qualified ordinary dividends, including short-term capital gain dividends, are subject to federal income tax at ordinary rates. Qualified dividends, however, may be eligible for 15% or zero capital gains rates. Capital gains distributions received from regulated investment companies are taxable at long-term capital gain rates. Nondividend distributions, also known as return of capital distributions, are not subject to current federal income tax. Instead, the tax cost basis of each shareholder receiving a return of capital distribution is reduced by the amount of the distribution.

The Fund is a closed-end fund and does not continuously issue stock for sale as open-end mutual funds do. The Fund now trades in the secondary market. Investors wishing to buy or sell stock need to place orders through an intermediary or broker. The share price of a closed-end fund is based on the market value.

There can be no guarantee that the Fund's distribution policy will be successful in its goals. The Fund's targeted distribution rates may be changed from time to time or discontinued, based on market conditions, among other factors.

Investors should not make any conclusions about the Fund's investment performance from the amount of the Fund's distributions or the Fund's Level Distribution Policy. It is expected that the primary source of the Fund's distributions will be from its net investment income. However, if needed, the Fund's distribution may consist of return of capital (ROC). A ROC should not be confused with yield or income. It is not taxable; rather it reduces a shareholder's tax basis in his or her shares of the Fund. A ROC will further reduce a Fund's net asset value and thus, over time, potentially increase the Fund's expense ratio.
